THE COST OF ANOTHER BROKEN WHYALLA PROMISE REVEALED

‘Yet again the people of Whyalla have been let down by a broken election promise.’

Tom Venning MP, Federal Member for Grey

Federal Member for Grey, Tom Venning, has been left disappointed by State Labor, who wasted an astounding $285.2 million of tax payers money over three years on its failed Hydrogen election promise. What was supposed to be a huge economic boost for the people of Whyalla, and an initiative to reduce energy prices has been scrapped, with $85.7 million of the money spent, officially written off.

Quotes attributable to Tom Venning MP Member for Grey

"State Labor needs to be transparent with the community, and the people of Whyalla, about the true cost of this failed election promise."

"The people of Whyalla, and of South Australia deserve to know how Labor managed to lose this amount of tax payers funds on a project that never even started."

"For a government to spend over a quarter of a billion dollars and then rely on a hypothetical sale of assets to try and cover their tracks is reckless."

"This is money that should have been spent on essential services, roads, and real, tangible infrastructure for the people of Whyalla."
